JOHN H. STRATMAN DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Second Stroke Of Apoplexy Is Fatal To Well-Known Cape
Girardeau Man

John H. Stratman, well-known in this city and county, died in the suburbs of Los Angeles, Cal., last Monday. His death was due to a stroke of apoplexy.

Mr. Stratman was 63 years old, and had been in bad health for several years. He moved to California 8 years ago in quest of health, but returned to Cape Girardeau after a few years absence. His family, however, remained in the west.

Mr. Stratman left Cape Girardeau for his last trip to Los Angeles last June. He enjoyed moderately good health until the latter part of November, when he suffered a stroke of apoplexy. He did not rally from this gripe.

and suffered the second stroke early Monday, resulting in his death.

Mr. Stratman for many years was employed by David A. Glenn, the well known merchant. In recent years, however, Mr. Stratman had been in business for himself.

Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Uniphries, pastor of the M. E. Church of Jackson, were in the city Monday shopping.

Mrs. Mary Ansell has been suffering with a severe case of the influenza, and is expected to recover.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION IN THE MATTER OF ESTABLISH- ING QUARANTINE REGULA- TIONS FOR THE PURPOSE OF OVERCOMING THE EXISTING EPIDEMIC OF INFLUENZA AND PREVENTING ITS FURTHER SPREAD.

Whereas, an alarming situation has arisen by the reason of the large number of cases of influenza appearing in the daily reports of the physicians of this city; and

Whereas, it has become necessary to impose binding restrictions and close regulations in the effort to enforce and establish means and measures designed to relieve the suffering of those now afflicted, and prevent others from becoming further exposed to danger of contracting said malady;

Therefore, I, H. H. Haas, Mayor of the city of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, upon the recommendation of the Board of Health, with the approval of the city council, proclaim and declare that from and including Friday, December 6, 1918, to and including Sunday, December 15, 1918, there shall be established and enforced, for the reasons above stated, certain rules governing quarantine as follows:

1. During said period of time, from December 6th, to and including December 15, 1918, there shall be no public gathering in this city—referring to and including attendance in theaters, lodges, churches, schools and conventions except that schools now in session will be permitted to operate until Friday evening, December 6, 1918.

2. All pool halls, billiard halls and bowling alleys shall close their doors and suspend business at 6 o'clock p. m., each day, until the opening on the following morning.

3. The management of all stores, saloons, confectioneries, lunch rooms, restaurants, and all other places of business must adhere strictly to the rule forbidding needless loitering in their respective places of business, and requiring immediate and prompt departure of all customers or patrons after being served, and any failure on the part of the management of such store or other place of business to enforce said requirement will be regarded as an act of defiance to the laws of the city, and will be treated as sufficient cause for entering such place of business, taking possession thereof, and closing its doors to the public for such time as the city authorities may deem necessary in the enforcement of said quarantine regulations.

4. In no place of business in said city of Cape Girardeau, during said quarantine period, shall there be permitted to remain any chairs, benches, couches, or stools, except such as may be necessary exclusively for the use of patrons while actually engaged in the transaction of business, and those shall be vacated, by order of the management if necessary, immediately following the close of such business transaction.

5. The above restrictions in which are recited the various forms of assembly forbidden, do not include schools with an attendance of not more than twelve pupils or boarding schools where all students attending are kept within the confines or building of such institutions.

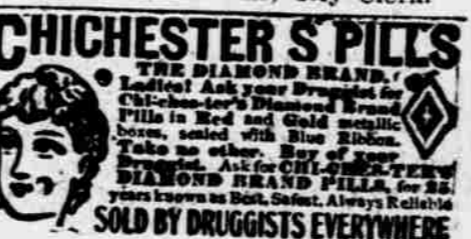

6. No more than twelve persons will be allowed to assemble at one time in any business house permitted to operate under the terms of this order.

Parents and guardians are hereby cautioned that all children of the age of fourteen years and younger are strictly forbidden to enter stores or public places, later or play on the streets or at any place in the city away from their home, during said period of restraint, extending from December 6th to and including December 15th, 1918.

8. All homes or premises wherein any case of influenza has developed will be kept in strict quarantine until its removal is authorized by the Health Commissioner and the attending physician, and all persons living on said premises not exposed to said sickness will be permitted to leave before quarantine is established over said premises, but any failure to take advantage of such opportunity, will necessitate their remaining in said premises for the period of said quarantine.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the City of Cape Girardeau, attested by the city clerk, this 5th day of December, 1918.

H. H. HAAS, Mayor.
Attest: A. P. Behrens, City Clerk.

HESSIAN FLY IS FOUND IN COUNTY

State Etymologist Discovers The Pests In Three Townships—
Not Numerous

(By Seth Babcock)
C. C. Hamilton, state etymologist, spent Monday with the county agent investigating the Hessian fly situation in Cape Girardeau county. A number of fields in Cape, Byrd and Hubble townships were examined, and some fly found in every field that was sown before October 13 the fly free date. Mr. Hamilton reported that there was less fly in this county than in the counties south of here.

It is impossible to tell how much damage the fly will do our wheat, a great deal depending on the weather conditions. All communities that did not have any volunteer wheat and did not plant until after the fly free date will not have this pest to contend with.

The fly is now in the flag seed and is found between the leaves of the wheat right at the surface of the ground or even below the surface. Plants badly infected are beginning to die and can easily be detected. Where there are only a few flies the wheat shows a darker green color and there will be more atooting than in healthy wheat.

Mr. C. C. Hamilton, who has charge of the Orchard Demonstration work in this county the past year will have three or four bee demonstrations in the county the coming year. Mr. Julius F. Nebel, Cape Route 4, has agreed to act as one of the demonstrators.

An attempt will be made to get a demonstrator in the Neely Community, one in or near Jackson and possibly one in the north part of the county.

The demonstrator agrees to keep a part of his bees in modern hives and to follow the directions of the State Etymologist in the care of his bees for a year. Accurate accounts are to be kept so that at the end of the season the amount of profit and loss can be determined. Mr. Nebel, who is just beginning with bees, took 400 pounds from his hives this season.

While investigating the Hessian fly on the farm of Jerry Hitt on the Jackson road the county agent was surprised to hear Mr. Hitt say that terraces had been used on this farm over 20 years ago. The field along the road now sown in wheat was a badly gulched and worn field when the uncle of Mr. Hitt got possession of the farm.

Three terraces were built to carry the water off to one side and soon the washing was completely under control. Gulches and ditches had gotten a start in this field," said Mr. Hitt, "and the only way to get rid of them was by terracing. There is a great deal of land in Cape County that should be terraced." We have often said that terracing was a new thing, that it had been used for years, but we did not know that it had been used so long ago in our own county.

NEW ROCK LEVEE BRIDGE PLANNED

M. E. Leming Says Structure Will Be Finished Before Spring
Floods.

M. E. Leming, chairman of the Cape Girardeau Township Highway Commission, announced yesterday that the commission, composed of Mr. Leming, Eric Weiss and T. H. Lewis, had decided to award a contract for the construction of a bridge over the Diversion channel on the Rock Levee road.

The commissioners propose to spend about $10,000 for a bridge which will have some degree of permanency. The present structure is a ramshackle span and will wash away with the first high water.

Chairman Leming says the district will replace it as early as possible. By beginning the work now, he says the new span will be finished by the latter part of the winter, when the ice gorges and high waters are due.

Mr. Leming called on Major Gibson Houck, the new member of the legislature from this county, to discuss with him the legality of constructing the bridge before it has been determined whether the legislature will amend the drainage law, placing the cost of the bridges on the district instead of the county. Major Houck told Mr. Leming that he believed the county could recover the money should the law be amended. He said he would offer no objection to the new bridge.
